Confession of a Murderer.

Pittsburg, Pa., January 14.—A special to the Dispatch from Lima, Ohio, says: A communication was received here to-day from Atchison stating that John Morris, a colored barber, formerly of Ada, Ohio, had made a dying confession in which he said he and two others had murdered William Emerich, a livery man at Ada, who was found hanging in his barn about eight years ago. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. Morris says that he and his companions lost all their money with Emerich at cards. They decided to kill him and accordingly snatched him as he was leaving his room, and after taking the money from him, carried him to the barn and suspended him. Morris gave the names of his companions. They left this place some years ago, but an effort will be made to locate them. Mrs. Emerich and her three children, who were left in good circumstances, are now living at Alma, Nebraska.

Fight in the Dark.

DECATUR, Jan. 13.—This morning about 2 o'clock a burglar entered the bed room of George Boston, a barber of this place, and in feeling about in the dark he rubbed his hand over Boston's face, which awoke him, and he (Boston) jumped out of bed and felt around and found his man in the corner of his room. When touched, the burglar made an attempt to get away, and Boston knocked him down, but it was so dark Boston could not see how to follow his man, who got up and jumped through the window, breaking out a pane of glass and making good his escape by leaping from the awning to the ground.

Stabbed by an Assassin.

TEXARKANA, Jan. 13.—Dr. B. F. Hesterly, a prominent physician, was severely stabbed last night by an unknown man while standing on the sidewalk in front of the Palace drug store, where a stranger accosted him with inquiry concerning the nearest hotel. He was politely answered and the stranger proceeded to interrogate him further, and finally demanded that the doctor should go with him and show him the nearest restaurant. This was declined, and the ruffian immediately attacked him with a knife. It was done in the glare of the gas light, but the would-be assassin made good his escape.

A Liberal Negro.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 14.—Andrew Ferguson, colored, has just given to the Presbytery of Louisville for the use of his church, the property purchased with the savings of a lifetime. Ferguson is a single man, 70 years old. He was in younger days the property of Andrew Todd, of Flemingsburg. With his freedom he began saving. He lives alone, does his own cooking, washing, etc. In 1878 he had saved $5,000, with which he bought the Knox Presbyterian church property. This he at once gave to his church, rent free for ten years, and now has deeded it outright.

Death of Mrs. Jay Gould.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Mrs. Jay Gould died at 8:30 o'clock Sunday night. Arrangements for the funeral will be completed to-day. Everything will be done in the simplest manner. Mrs. Gould was about 50 years old. She was the daughter of Daniel C. Miller, of this city, a member of the firm of Lee, Dater & Miller, dealers in produce and groceries. He amassed a fortune. The Miller homestead was on Union square, where the Century building now stands. It was there Miss Helen Miller spent her youth, and there she was married to Mr. Gould about twenty-one years ago.

A Minister Murdered.

HARTZEL, Ala., Jan. 14.—Last night the Rev. Benjamin Rains, a Methodist preacher in the western part of Morgan county, was brutally murdered. Mr. Rains, his brother Bob and a man named Sims had been to Somerville and started home in the afternoon. The minister's horse reached home riderless late last night, and the family sent out messengers to find the missing man. His dead body was discovered eight miles from home lying near the roadside. He had been stabbed to death. There is no clue to the murderer.

Riddle's cheap or cash meat market, south side of the square, is doing a rushing business. Riddle is always first in his line, selling the richest, the fattest and juiciest of meat at bottom rock prices. His customers follow him and one who trades with him once becomes a regular customer. You can buy fine porter house steak at Riddle's at 10 cents per pound, and all other meat in proportion. Take your basket around there.

COLLISION NEAR KENT.

Horrible Wreck of a Passenger Train With Deadly Results.

CLEVELAND, O., January 14.—Passenger train No. 8 on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio railway collided with a freight train near Kent, Ohio, this morning. Eight people are reported killed and six injured.

A Chronicle-Telegraph special from Youngstown says: Passenger train No. 8, bound for New York, on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio railway, while running fifty miles an hour this morning, struck a freight train, head on, near Tallmadge, Ohio. Both engines, both firemen and eight passengers were killed and fourteen passengers were badly injured. The freight train was attempting to make a siding and had sent out a flagman, who failed to signal the passenger train. The wreck is more serious than the one at Pittman, when the Grand Army train was wrecked.

Later particulars of the accident on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio road near Kent, Ohio, as far as known at the general office in this city, are that the third section of freight train No. 81, west, broke in two between Kent and Tallmadge. The front end of the freight was put on a sidetrack and a flagman was left at Tallmadge to flag the passenger train, east bound, then nearly due. The flagman imagined he heard a whistle signal from his engine to return to the train and did not perform the duty required of him. The engines came together with fatal results to eight persons and injuries to six others. Those reported killed are Engineer Huntington, Fireman Walters, Brakeman Bashford, Express Messenger Landy, Mary Lyon, a little 6-year-old girl, of Cherry Tree, N. Y., and three Chinamen. The names of the injured are not yet learned.

The collision took place at a point about two miles from Tallmadge. The tracks on both sides were bound by a heavy growth of trees, and the country in the vicinity is but sparsely inhabited. A few minutes after the accident occurred, flames had begun to shoot out of the baggage car and smoker. The passengers and train people immediately began the work of rescuing the injured and dead from the wreck. The coach in the rear of the smoker was badly damaged, and the end of the baggage car had crushed far into the smoker. As soon as the injured and dead were removed from the second coach, which was also on fire, the two sleepers were detached and pushed back by hand out of reach of the flames. None of the passengers in the sleepers were injured, but all the persons who escaped death were placed in the sleepers and an extra train conveyed them to a side track, where the next east bound coupled to them and proceeded to Leavittsburg.

A Woman Arrested.

ST. LOUIS, January 14.—A sensational arrest was made here to-day, which promises to result in the exposure of baby farming with all its heartless cruelty right under the eyes of the city authorities. A woman, who gave her name as Jane Luffert, called at the corner's office and gave notice that two babies who had been left in her charge had died and that the city would have to bury them. She stated the children had been left with her by their mothers. One was a boy named Frank Todd, about six weeks old, and the other a girl called Mary Francis Smythe, about a week older. Deputy Coroner Dunbar went to the woman's house, 1403 Cass Avenue, and as a result of his investigation Mrs. Luffert was arrested. The bodies of the dead infants were terribly emaciated.

A Fatal Accident.

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 14.—News reached here to-day of a shocking accident which occurred near Collins last night. A train of wagons loaded with freight for Hamburg merchants encamped for the night, and among the number was a Mr. Powell, who, on retiring, hung his overcoat near the fire, in which there was a pistol. From some cause the coat took fire during the night and caused the pistol to explode. The noise awoke young Powell, who imagined it to be some one of the party handling it. He remonstrated with them about wasting his cartridges, and, leaning his head forward to see who it was, another chamber exploded, striking him in the temple and killing him instantly.
